The airfield of Partyzanske (2 49/T 85) was located about three kilometers west of the town, southeast of Chynorany (P 49/T 75), and north of the Nitra River. The field belonged to the local Aeroclub. It covered an area of about 700 x 1,000 meters and could be extended toward the west. The landing field was sandy and had a turf surface. A one-story building, about 10 x 35 meters, at the eastern border of the field housed workshops and the club. Four sports planes were frequently seen on the field. No military units were observed at the airfield or in town. *

25X1 * Comment. For location sketch of airfield, see Annex. This report confirms previous information on the Partyzanske airfield, which is being used for sports aviation only. According to press information the airfield was opened on 24 June 1946 under the name of Batovany. Partyzanske is entered on map CGCS 4346, sheet 2 49 under the name of Simonovany.

1 Annex: Sketch of airfield.
